EASTER SPIRIT JAMS CHURCHES DESPITE COLD

A cold wind and fitful sunshine failed to discourage the Easter spirit in the hearts of Adams countians Sunday.

Hundreds braved the chill morning breezes to attend dawn services in numerous churches throughout the county.

Churches were jammed with worshippers at regular services as the story of Christ's resurrection was retold from hundreds of pulpits throughout the county. Churches were decorated with flowers traditional to the season.

The "new look" in dresses was covered by the old look in winter coats on the part of many, but for an even larger number the day, even though cold and threatening rain, permitted a display of new finery.

The Easter week-end began Saturday with rain followed by bright sunlight followed by rain and then rain and hail at 2 and 4 p.m.

Damage By Storms

During the worst wind and rain storm two wires of the Metropolitan Edison company crossed at Bonneville, shorted and burned, and the town was without electric power from about 4 o'clock until 5, when workmen from the light company completed repairs.

A light company pole snapped off near Hoffman's Orphanage, but did not cut off power to any customers and a transformer burned out near Seven Stars.

The dashing rain, which shot under doors and windows in many homes, and forced its way into the ventilating system at a local theater, sending a fine mist over some customers, soaked a number of United Telephone cables here and in Biglerville, causing phones to be out of service.

Guide Business Fair

After the wind and rain storm Saturday afternoon the weather became warm briefly, pushing the thermometer up to 63 degrees here. The hail storms sent the mercury dropping to a low of 32 Sunday morning. Rainfall Saturday totaled 1.06 inches here.

Traffic was heavy for the week-end. The cold weather and wet grass tended to discourage the usual East egg hunts in the lawns about homes of parents.

Guides reported that their business was "fair" but pointed out that Easter is traditionally a poor day for visitation to the battlefield on the part of tourists from other states. However, a large number of Pennsylvania and Maryland cars visited the battlefield during the day with Alvan Baker, superintendent of the National cemetery here, stating that the tourist traffic was "fairly heavy," with most visitors being from Gettysburg or nearby communities, apparently persons who took a Sunday afternoon drive. There were 110 visitors to the cyclorama during the day.

Washington, March 29 (AP) — The House Foreign Affairs committee gave its backing today to a foreign aid bill amendment to put extra controls on exports of strategic supplies to Russia.

Rep. Mundt (R-SD), said the committee voted "overwhelmingly" to support his amendment to the $6,205,000,000 bill giving the foreign administrator the right to veto any exports to Russia and her satellites when he considers it "in the national interest."

Issue Subpoena For Lewis In Probe Of Soft Coal Shutdown After He Refuses To Testify

Washington, March 29 (AP)—John L. Lewis today refused to appear voluntarily to explain the soft coal strike and President Truman's board of inquiry promptly issued a subpoena for his appearance at 2 p. m. today.

Three minutes before a 10 a. m. deadline set for his reply, the United Mine Workers' leader fired at the board a reply to its invitation setting forth his "disinclination" to testify.

MANY MATTERS BEFORE COURT; DIVORCE ASKED

Mrs. Sylvia (Topper) Wible has brought suit for divorce against her husband, John Allen Wible, Carlisle street, charging cruel and barbarous treatment. The Adams county court Saturday set May 17 as return for the libel.

The divorce suit was one of a number of petitions before the court on various matters Saturday.

A petition to open a judgment and let the defendants enter a defense was filed for Charles H. and Lulu Thompson, Gettysburg R. 3, by their attorneys, Swope, Brown and Swope.

The Thompsons are seeking to prevent their ejectment from a property in Butler township under an action brought by Roberta and John P. Anderson, Abbottstown R. 1.

Property Dispute
In the ejectment action filed March 20, the Andersons claimed they had agreed to sell their 78-acre property to the Thompsons for $4,500. Then, the Andersons claim, the Thompsons paid $300 down, moved in, and failed to pay the $4,200 remaining.

In their suit, the Thompsons claim they have attempted to pay the $4,200 but that the Andersons will not accept it and give a deed to the property; in their statement the Thompsons state that on the date first set to pay they could not pay because the Andersons did not have a proper deed ready; that the second time set to pay the Thompsons through a miscalculation, were $57 short of the $4,200 required. That at a third time set to pay the two parties got into an argument over some personal property not originally listed in the bill of sale and that since then the Andersons have refused to accept the $4,200 and hand over the deed.

The court set April 26 as return date for the Thompson-Anderson dispute with the Andersons requested to show cause why the defendants should not be permitted to enter a defense in the judgment.

Bonds Approved
April 16 at 10 a. m. was set as time for a hearing on the petition for revocation of a support order made by Claude S. Wagner, Hanover R. 3. Wagner claims that the court ordered him to pay $6 a week for his wife and child's support in 1944, but that since that time the wife has secured a divorce and the child has become self supporting and over 17 years of age.

The following tax collectors' bonds were approved by the court: John F. Feeser, Union township; Emory S. Guise, York Springs; B. L. Nickey, Reading township; Edward Decheubell, McSherrystown; Charles Little, Mt. Joy township; Richard Sanders, Mt. Pleasant township; Mrs. W. A. Mahone, Oxford township and N. E. Shultz, Franklin township.

The soloist was Clarence Schwartz Jr., Littlestown, who was accompanied by his aunt, Mrs. Naomi Schwartz. Prior to the service he sang "O Promise Me." "Because," and during the service "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Schwartz played several numbers and the traditional wedding marches for the service.

Three minutes before a 10 a. m. deadline set for his reply, the United Mine Workers' leader fired at the board a reply to its invitation setting forth his "disinclination" to testify.

An hour later, two United States marshals emerged grinning from United Mine Workers headquarters and the marshal's office said that Lewis had accepted the subpoena. This occurred after the officers had experienced difficulty getting an elevator to take them to Lewis' office. The stairs were barred.

Lewis said he based his decision on (1) "law" and (2) "prejudice." He explained:

Attacks Board Members
1. Neither he nor the UMW have done anything falling under the Taft-Hartley law, which President Truman has invoked in the dispute. He called this law an "infamous enactment."

2. Two of the three board members are "biased and prejudiced and

Two Treated After
Auto Collision
George Warthen, 17, and Eugene Myers, 19, both of Emmitsburg, were treated at the Warner hospital Sunday for minor injuries received in an auto accident Sunday at 1:30 a. m. at the skating rink at Taneytown.

Warthen was treated for lacerations of the left ear and upper left eyelid. Myers, who accompanied Warthen, was treated for a laceration of the scalp.

The accident is reported to have taken place when Warthen pulled out of a road and his car was struck by another auto.

Damage totaling about $60 was done when automobiles operated by Harry T. Snyder, York and John H. Marker, East King street, Littlestown, collided Sunday evening at 6:15 o'clock in the center square at Littlestown. No one was injured.

Chief of Police Leon H. Gage, who investigated, said that Marker was driving west on East King street and was in the process of making a left turn at the square when his car struck the auto driven by Mr. Snyder which was coming in the opposite direction. No charges were filed.

DONATIONS TO RED CROSS NOW TOTAL $6,868

Donations to the Adams county Red Cross totaled nearly $7,000 today with only one district, Franklin township, turning in funds over the Easter week-end and that amount was $29.50 additional. Contributions totaled $6,868.27.

There seemed little chance today that the drive would go over its $14,820 goal by March 31, the end of the national Red Cross fund drive.

However a concerted effort on the part of collectors to make their final calls and get their money in prior to the 31st would probably bring the total near the campaign quota, Attorney Donald M. Swope, chairman of the finance committee, said today.

If the quota is not topped by the end of the month the drive will be extended locally.

Directors To Meet
Much of the increased amount needed by the Red Cross is due to the $10,530,478.82 disaster relief bill that had to be paid by the American Red Cross last year, it was pointed out. Hurricanes, floods, explosions and tornadoes struck in 46 states and Alaska, calling for Red Cross service on a major scale, Attorney Swope pointed out today.

There were 141 major fires, 50 floods, 41 tornadoes, three hurricanes, 21 other storms, 30 explosions, minor earthquakes, transportation wrecks and other serious accidents during the year which called for assistance from the Red Cross. Disaster-caused deaths totaled 1,226 and injured totaled 7,969. During the first 11 months of last year the Red Cross assisted 305,682 disaster sufferers.

The board of directors of the Red Cross will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Methodist church. Thursday evening the Junior Red Cross Interscholastic council will meet at 7:30 o'clock at East Berlin high school.

Two Cars Overturn
Two automobiles left the highway and overturned a mile south of Hanover at 12:25 a. m. Sunday, but the occupants escaped injury, police said. The cars were being driven by Clair B. Bowers, 20, of Littlestown R. 2, and Lawrence Storm, 19, of 5 Orchard street, Hanover.

Police said Storm was following the Bowers car. Bowers applied his brakes at a turn in the road, and Storm ran into the rear of his car, according to the report. Both cars then went off the highway on the right side and overturned. Damage to the Bowers car was estimated at $450 and to the Storm car, $300. Investigation is being continued.

When George C. Currens, Jr., Gettysburg R. 3, was making a left turn off the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road to the York Springs creamery at 9:30 a. m. Sunday, his automobile was struck by a car operated by Mrs. Eleanor Corcoran Cumming, Plainfield, N. J. Total damage was estimated by state police at $10.

Cars operated by Donald H. Feeser, Hanover, and Clayton L. Leppo, Littlestown R. 1, collided at the intersection of Linden avenue and Maple avenue in Middleburg, near Midway, at 6:45 a. m. today. No one was injured. Total damage was placed at $50.

WOULD STOP ATOMIC TALKS

Lake Success, March 29 (AP) — Britain, China, France and Canada demanded today that atomic delegates break off talks on Russia's scheme to prohibit atomic bombs.

The four nations declared a mere convention banning bombs would, without world controls, help an aggressor nation gain overwhelming military supremacy and would mislead public opinion into a feeling of false security. They denounced the whole of Russia's atomic proposals as inadequate and unrealistic.

The four countries put a resolution before the working committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission calling for rejection of the Russian proposals as they stand now. They asked the committee to declare there is no purpose in discussing them further.

Delegates from the four countries said the resolution does not constitute a final and formal break with Russia on the whole atomic control problem. They said they are ready to discuss new Soviet proposals but they do not want to cover the same ground again and again.

The United States did not join in the statement of the four countries but informed sources predicted the U.S. would support it.

Authoritative sources said the four nations were laying the groundwork for a full debate on atomic energy in the 1948 United Nations Assembly meeting in Paris this fall. These sources added that the four nations feel it is time for the Assembly to attempt to end the deadlock by its moral persuasion.

Says Court 'Exiles' God From Schools

New York, March 29 (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Fulton J. Sheen declared yesterday that the U. S. Supreme Court "has officially exiled God from our schools."

The Catholic University faculty member made the statement on a "Catholic Hour" broadcast over NBC. He apparently referred to a March 8 high tribunal decision that religious education classes in the Champaign, Ill., schools violate constitutional requirements for separation of church and state.

"Though the Supreme Court has officially exiled God from our schools, we can prove as loyal, sound Americans that God will never be exiled from our hearts," Msgr. Sheen said.

"Though this decision has weakened us, we can prove that only by faith in Christ can we meet the forces of anti-Christ."

COURT DENIES UNION APPEAL

Hammond, Ind., March 29 (AP) — The A.F.L. International Typographical union today was denied a stay of an injunction restraining it from causing printers' strikes that violate the Taft-Hartley law.

Union counsel had asked Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert to stay his injunction order of Saturday pending an appeal. The injunction was granted to the government as a result of a strike of ITU printers on Chicago newspapers and in other cities.

"The court has found the probable existence of certain unfair labor practices and they have an effect on the public interest," Judge Swygert said in denying the stay.

"The decision restrained them (unfair labor practices) and to grant a stay would nullify the very purpose of the injunction."

Fear Damage In South From Cold

Chicago, March 29 (AP) — Sub-freezing temperatures and probable general frost might have caused widespread damage to the fruit crop in several southeastern and gulf states today, the weather bureau said.

Federal Forecaster W. M. Percy said that frost likely occurred throughout the southern states northward from northern Florida and westward into Mississippi where Vicksburg reported a chill 31 degrees at midnight.

Freezing temperatures were reported in Tennessee and along the Atlantic seaboard northward from North Carolina.

Percy said fruit trees were reported blooming in Georgia and other southeastern states and that considerable damage might have occurred. The chill blast, he added, was expected to end with sharply rising temperatures today.

Another Novel On Police Blacklist

Philadelphia, March 29 (AP) — James T. Farrell's 12-year-old novel, "A World I Never Made," has been placed on the Philadelphia police blacklist, assistant district attorney James W. Tracey, Jr., said yesterday.

Tracey said the book is obscene "under the law," adding that a recommendation was made that the city solicitor prosecute any sellers. "I wouldn't want to have it around my household," Tracey said, "where young people could get hold of it."

Meanwhile, a meeting of booksellers was scheduled here today to draft a plan to counter the city's action. The Author's League of America and the American Booksellers' Association have joined local booksellers and other individuals, including Farrell himself, in denouncing the blacklist action and recent seizures of books by members of the Philadelphia vice squad.

PIAA CAGERS TO WIND UP TITLE PLAY THIS WEEK

Harrisburg, March 29 (AP)—Four class A basketball teams and the same number of class B quintets were ready today for the last week of the 1947-48 campaign.

Starting tonight and winding up on Saturday, these survivors will battle it out for the two state championships.

The first action occurs on the court of the Radnor high school tonight when Bridgeport and Swoyer-ville meet for the class B eastern championship.

Three games are listed for tomorrow, with Irwin defending class B champion, meeting Kane at Farrell for the western title. In other games York and Norristown clash at the Penn Palestra, and Ford City meets Westinghouse at the Pitt Pavilion.

The winners of these eastern and western games will then clash for state titles on Friday and Saturday night, with the site for the class B game still undecided. The class A championship is listed for the Penn Palestra.

York In Action

In the east Norristown will be making its first serious bid for a state championship against a York team that never won a title in 33 years of competition until this year's squad took the Central Penn crown and the district three honors.

Ford City appears to have a decided edge on Westinghouse, the Pittsburgh city champions. The Ford City five boasts of a fine guard in Johnny Portask, while at center the Armstrong county squad depends on ranky Ed Halas, rated by many the best pivot man in the west.

Irwin may have trouble repeating as western class B title-holder. Last year Kane won the district nine honors in the class A ranks, but this year, due to lower enrollment, moved back into class B competition. However the Wolves have the same players they used last year, and they are setting a fast pace.

Playoff Schedule

The schedule for the week follows:

Monday, March 29

Class B — Bridgeport vs. Swoyer-ville at Radnor.

Tuesday, March 30

Class B — Kane vs. Irwin at Farrell.

Friday, April 2

Chick Harbert Is Charlotte Winner

Charlotte, N. C., March 29 (AP)—When Golfer Chick Harbert's second daughter was born 11 weeks ago her daddy stuck close to home, passing up several tournaments until all was well.

Today the 33-year-old Detroit had pocketed his second $2,000 check in two weeks as further insurance that the young lady and her 17-month-old sister will be well supplied with things gals of that age require.

The 1947 PGA championship runner-up won the $10,000 Charlotte

Maryland Racing Season Opening

Bowie, Md., March 29 (AP)—The 1948 Maryland racing season gets underway today at Bowie, where about a dozen thoroughbreds are set to go postward in the $10,000 Rowe Memorial handicap, traditional inaugural feature.

Despite competition coming up shortly from New Jersey tracks, the Bowie barns are filled with nearly 1,000 horses and hundreds more are stabled at Havre De Grace, Pimlico and Laurel.

It was because of this competition that Bowie set today for the start of its 12-day meeting. The track has never before opened until April.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, March 29 (AP)—Where most boys would give anything for one chance to make the Olympic team, Dan Barksdale, former UCLA athlete, gets two without half trying.

Although his basketball team, the Oakland Bitters, was eliminated Saturday, Dan looked so good that he may be one of the players chosen for the Olympic squad. He also plans to try for the track team, since he's a former national hop, step and jump champion.

Vince Boryla, sparkling center of the Denver Nuggets, was discharged from the Army just before the AAU court tournament and plans to return to Notre Dame. One anonymous representative of a Rocky Mountain area college admitted: "We offered him everything but the north end of the new field house," but Vince didn't even listen.

NO FOAL LIKE AN OLD FOAL.

Although the Kentucky Derby is only for three-year-old horses, the Churchill Downs statistical department has figured that 14 of the 109 entries won't actually be three years old until after the Derby is run and two others, Shy Guy and Loser Weeper, will be celebrating their birthday May 1. Most of the top-rated entries, however, were foaled in March or April of 1945. The favorite, Citation, was born April 11.

MONDAY MATINEE

The Louisiana State U. boxing team will have to do without Pete Dorsey in the NCAA championships this weekend for a very good reason. Pete is an income tax expert and quit the team early in March to look after his mathematical business. Ed (Strangler) Lewis now is teaching wrestling (with gestures and sound effects, we presume) at the Los Angeles athletic club, with time out for occasional professional appearances.

Jim Swarts, head man of the Penn Relays, reports that 434 schools and colleges have signified their intention of competing this year—thus paving the way for his annual statistic: "More than 3,000 competitors representing 500 schools."

BUSY SEASON

The American Bowling Congress reports the business keglers on record are Chester Smith of Detroit, who rolls in eleven leagues weekly, and Robert Roll Sr. of Louisville, who bowls in nine and is the only bowler of record to take part in league competition seven nights each week. Wonder when they take time out from their recreation and get a little rest.

Training Camp Briefs

Clearwater, Fla., March 29 (AP)—Bob Carpenter, president of the Philadelphia Phillies, talked trade with officials of the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday but later announced "there was nothing doing."

The Phillies need pitchers. The Cards are in the market for a catcher and centerfielder and have indicated they might part with pitcher Harry Brecheen if the bait is right.

Fresno, Calif., March 29 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates are wondering what's become of their batting punch.

The Bucs, who meet the New York Giants in an exhibition game today, have averaged only five hits a game in the last ten contests. Ralph Kiner, who poled 51 homers last year to tie Johnny Mize for the National League leadership, has hit only one round-tripper in 44 times at bat and has the squad's poorest average, .134.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 29 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics shifting their attention from major league to minor foes, will open a two-game series with Toronto of the International league tomorrow night. The A's break camp Friday.

BISHOP MAY GO TO 2ND OLYMPIC

New York, March 29 (AP)—Ralph Bishop's chances of becoming the only basketball player ever to represent the United States in two Olympiads rested today on the damaged left knee of Vince Boryla.

Bishop, only collegian on the American team which won the Olympic basketball title in 1936, now coaches the Denver Nuggets, one of the two AAU teams left in the current Olympic tryouts.

The 32-year-old former University of Washington star would automatically be named U. S. Olympic cage coach if his team should win the tryouts at Madison Square Garden.

But the Nuggets have two tough hills to climb before they can achieve that distinction. In the first semi-final game at 8 p. m., tonight they meet the Phillips Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., who defeated them in the finals of the National AAU tournament for the seventh time in eight meetings this year.

Then, should they score an upset over Bartlesville, they would have to stop the winners of tonight's other semi-final game between Kentucky and Baylor in the Olympic final Wednesday night.

Right now, Bishop's major worry is the condition of Boryla's knee, injured in the last 20 seconds of Denver's 57-55 triumph over the Oakland Bitters in the quarter-finals Saturday.

Chicago, March 29 (AP)—The newly formed national automobile racing league planned to appoint a commissioner today to rule midget auto racing.

The league, organized yesterday at a meeting of representatives of 55 tracks and 10 midget driver associations groups, has drafted a constitution which will be recommended for adoption before adjournment.

Identity of the new commissioner remained a secret last night. The position has been offered to a retired general of World War II, who apparently has not accepted officially.

New York, March 29 (AP)—Post season playoffs between the eastern and western divisions of the basketball association of America still haven't shown which division is the stronger.

The two sides have split even in the first six games.
In the individual series, the east's No. 1 team, Philadelphia, leads the best in the west, St. Louis, two games to one, New York and Baltimore, the second place clubs, are tied, 1-1, and Chicago leads Boston, 1-0, in the third place series.

Chicago, March 29 (AP)—Penn State's well balanced team, led by Olympic candidate Ray Sorensen, won the NCAA gymnastics championship Saturday night.

Sorensen, national A.A.U. cales-thenics champion, was the meet's only double winner. He took first in the parallel bars and all-around event. In the latter he scored 1,537 points to beat out his teammate, Bill Bonsall, who scored 1,462 for second place.

York, Pa., March 29 (AP)—Farrell Devlin, LaSalle college freshman from Reading, Pa., won both the 100-yard freestyle and the 220-yard senior Middle Atlantic AAU freestyle title in an invitation swimming meet at the York YMCA. Devlin took the 100-yard freestyle Saturday night in 53.8 and the 220-yard event in two minutes, 29 seconds.

Bob Cowell of the U. S. Navy's olympic team, swam the 100-yard backstroke in 59.8 seconds to set a pool record. A teammate, Bob Tribble, finished third in the backstroke event behind Bill Clinton of Coatesville, Pa., former schoolboy champion.

Barons And Bisons Loom For Finals

(By The Associated Press)
The Cleveland Barons and the Buffalo Bisons are on the threshold of the final round of the American hockey league's Calder cup playoffs.

Both sextets need to win only one more game from their semi-final opponents to enter the championship round.

The thundering Barons, western division pennant winners, have won three straight games in their best four-out-of-seven series with the Providence Reds while the Bisons are one up on the New Haven Ramblers in their best two-out-of-three series.

Cleveland made it three in a row over the Reds last night by clipping the New Englanders, 4-2, in Providence while Buffalo scored a 2-1 sudden death victory over the Ramblers.

WINS STREET RACE

Baltimore, March 29 (AP)—Tom Crane of Springfield, Mass., set a new course record yesterday as he defeated his closest opposition by about 12 blocks in the sixth annual 12 mile street race sponsored by the White Horse Social club. The national 15 and 25 kilometers champion negotiated the course in one hour, five minutes, nine and one-half seconds to clip 1:53.5 off the mark set by Charles Robbins of Boston last year. Robbins did not start this time.

Two Weightlifting Records Broken

Philadelphia, March 29 (AP)—Joe Di Pietro, featherweight tigger from Paterson, N. J., exceeded two listed world's records in the Middle Atlantic AAU weightlifting championships at Convention Hall.

The marks, set Saturday night, will not stand, however, because, Di Pietro—competing in the featherweight division—weighed in at 123½ pounds, above the bantamweight limit.

Di Pietro had a score of 668½ points in three events, two-hand military press, two-hand snatch and two-hand clean and jerk. His previous record was 661 points. He lifted 234½ pounds in the two-hand military press. The record was set in 1939 by Juitsu Nan of Japan.

The 132-pound title was won by Elmer Hart, Philadelphia titlist, with 515 points. Rex Fornataro, Hazleton, Pa., was second with 370.

Communist Bloc Wins In Romania

Bucharest, March 29 (AP)—Latest official returns today in Romania's national elections gave the Communist-led government bloc 90 per cent of the vote.

Yesterday's balloting, for 414 members of a new national assembly, is expected to clinch the far Left's control over Romania. Deputies elected will consider a constitution creating a Socialist-Communist state. Voting was orderly.

Returns from 40 of Romania's 59 election districts showed that 5,220,706 of the 5,724,562 registered voters in those precincts cast ballots yesterday. Of that number 4,714,442 voted for candidates of the government bloc headed by Premier Petru Groza.

This includes Bucharest, where 606,968 of the 658,211 registered voters cast ballots, 537,698 of them for the government bloc.

He added that "today men in all walks of life realize the necessity of a strong internal force as well as a military organization abroad and are enlisting and reenlisting in our guard organization."

REDS FORTIFY ALONG BORDER LINE IN KOREA

(Editor's Note: Roy Roberts, Associated Press correspondent in Seoul, Korea, who on Friday was the first to report Soviet-sponsored North Koreans repeatedly broadcast invitations to South Koreans to take part in setting up a Russian-controlled Korean government, today visited the boundary between the U. S. and Soviet occupation zones. This is what he found.)

By ROY ROBERTS
Outpost 18 On 38th Parallel, Korea, March 29 (AP)—Soviet soldiers and North Korean villagers are digging trenches, foxholes and gun emplacements along the 38th parallel dividing the Soviet and American occupation zones of Korea.

Americans don't know why. They assume the Soviets ordered the World War I type of defensive line to justify Russian statements to North Koreans—reported by travelers from the north—that Americans and South Koreans plan to attack North Korea.

The digging was first observed by American patrols early this month. They presumed the first few undertakings were irrigation ditches. The activity stepped up sharply about March 9; the nature of the work became clear. One and two-man foxholes appeared.

Gunmounts Seen
The ditches became trenches six feet deep. Sometimes they were connected by communications trenches 2½ feet deep. Holes 10 feet in diameter were dug and given turret tops with openings for guns pointed south. No weapons were observed but at least one emplacement contains a bipod mount as large as that for an American 81-millimeter mortar.

U. S. Intelligence reports indicate the work is concentrated in five valleys containing the main travel routes between North and South Korea.

The trenches command a road in each valley and railroad lines in three. More than 32 trenches 30 to 50 feet long were counted along the invisible geographical line Saturday. Three or four new ones are observed daily.

The work was first noted on the Onjin peninsula on the western extremity. It spread eastward, valley by valley. The Onjin peninsula is entrenched almost solidly its entire width. The trenches there are so close to the parallel that one can toss rocks into them from the American zone.

Camouflaged At First
There is no comparable activity in the American zone. The only defense work in South Korea is the sand-bagging of Korean police stations in a few villages, several thousand yards south of 38. This was done after threats of attack came from North Koreans, but were never carried out in large scale.

The northern work was done mainly by Koreans supervised by are spending the Easter holidays with their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Shorb, East King street, spent Easter at the home of Mrs. Shorb's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua L. Logue, Westminster, R. D., at which time, Mr. and Mrs. Logue celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. A three tier wedding cake decorated in gold occupied the center of the table.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO
Our townsman, Mr. Cooper, in Rome:

A correspondent of the Boston Courier, under date of Rome, Feb. 28th., says that the Americans in that city (120 in number), celebrated the birthday of Washington by a banquet. Mr. Cooper, of Pennsylvania, presided on the occasion, and all the proceedings went off with great enthusiasm.

On the 23d inst., Ann Margaretta, daughter of Mr. John Sacks, aged 5 years, 9 months and 16 days.

Louis Philippe has fallen—France is a REPUBLIC. Human folly and infatuation have again provoked the outburst of national wrath and a throne has been crushed under the foot of a people like a piece of pottery. The third revolution of France—so far, at least as Paris is concerned and "Paris is France"—is a real one, radical, thorough, complete. The monarchy is at an end—the people have killed it: Louis Philippe abdicates in favor of his grandson (the Count De Paris) but the people of Paris will not have his grandson.

The consequences of this third French revolution will prove of extreme interest to the people of the United States—North American.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
DEDICATIONS

Dedications in books have always interested me. Some are curious, some are humorous, but most of them are a tribute to the love of someone. Here are a few that I recall: Marvin Lowenthal dedicates his book, "The Autobiography of Michel de Montaigne" as follows: "This book is dedicated to the memory of Eugene Cowles Taylor—a friend I cannot find again."

General Lew Wallace dedicated his "Ben-Hur" in the first edition "To the Wife of My Youth." Many wrote and wanted to know how many wives he had had! So in the later editions this was changed to read, "To the Wife of My Youth—Who Abides With Me Still!"

Michael Fairless dedicated her beautiful "Roadmender" with these words: "To My Mother: And to Earth, My Mother, Whom I Love." I first became interested in the writings of Kay Boyle because of the dedication of her early book, "Plagued by the Nightingale." It was: "For My Mother and Her Undying Flame."

Christopher Morley dedicated his novel, "Thoreau," to "Uncle and Aunts." A stroke of diplomacy, perhaps! Mr. Frost dedicated his "New Hampshire" to "Vermont and Michigan."

Mark Twain, who was forever up to some quaint trick, instead of a dedication for his famous book "Huckleberry Finn," had this put in its place: "Persons attempting to find a motive in this narrative will be prosecuted; persons attempting to find a moral in it will be banished; persons attempting to find a plot in it will be shot."

To send a book out into the world is both a joy and responsibility, for one never knows to what corners of the earth it may go. A Russian nurse once wrote me from China in regard to a little book of mine. I wondered how it had strayed so far from home! Books are like that, though.

This custom of dedicating a book to one admired or beloved, is a very beautiful one; at least it seems that way to me. I always look for it in every book that I read. It is one way of tossing a line of love into the world. Often it is a note of appreciation that the heart alone is able to give.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "These Talks."

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST
The Poet of the People

SPRING ON THE WAY
Now let the winds blow as they will
And let the clouds be gray,
We soon shall hear the robins trill
That spring is on the way.
And where for months the ice and snow
Have hid the ground from view,
The grass beneath will start to grow
When skies again are blue.

At first the snowdrops will appear,
Bright bits of blossom white,
To cry that spring is drawing near
And winter put to flight.
The crocuses will follow on—
Gay heralds of the spring—
Proclaiming unto everyone
They've happy news to bring.

A few more days to wait and then
The tulips will return.
The woods will soon be rich again
With violet and fern;
The warming sun, the gentle rain
Will life to earth restore
And give us bud and leaf again
And lilacs at the door.

13 KILLED IN MISHAPS OVER EASTER IN PA.

(By The Associated Press)

Seven persons died in highway crashes over the Easter week-end in Pennsylvania while two men were killed by trains and four deaths occurred in other accidents.

Three were killed in a truck-auto crash near West Springfield, Pa., yesterday. State police said those killed were Capt. and Mrs. Douglas Jackson, Medina, N. Y., and Capt. George Russell, Buffalo, N. Y. The two men were merchant ship captains.

Other Crash Victims
Two other persons were killed and five hurt in a head-on crash of two cars on route 72 yesterday near Lebanon. State Policeman C. J. Jeffries said the dead were Wayne Kreiser, 34, and Edward Knapp, 16, both of Jonestown, R. D. 2.

A man identified as Robert Fittelson of Pottstown, Pa., was injured fatally last night under the wheels of a Shamokin express train at the Reading Railroad's North Broad street station. Reading Policeman John Parker said Fittelson apparently was attempting to board the train and fell from the station platform.

Stanley J. Neratka, 32, was killed Saturday night by a Baltimore and Ohio freight train while on his way to his home in Uniontown with an arm load of bundles.

Man Electrocuted
Robert Smith, 60, Temple R. D. 1, died in Reading hospital yesterday of injuries sustained when he was struck by a car. The other highway fatality was Albert Weidman, 81, fatally injured by a car in Lancaster.

Jeffrey Clay Bair, four, died in Lancaster General hospital after drinking a bottle of oil of wintergreen, Deputy Coroner C. P. Spahr reported. An unidentified man burned to death in a barn fire near Kittanning Saturday.

Frank Range, 28, Oil City R. D. 2, was electrocuted yesterday. Police said Range lost his life while attempting to remove a high tension pole knocked over his truck in a highway crash.

VANDENBERG IS GAINING FAVOR

Harrisburg, March 29 (AP)—The Republican organization in Pennsylvania was reported today as looking favorably upon Senator Arthur Vandenberg for the party's Presidential nomination.

Officially, the big keystone state delegation will go to the Philadelphia convention unpledged to any candidate but a source close to the Republican leadership said considerable sentiment has developed in Pennsylvania for the Michigan Senator.

"Senator Vandenberg could come along as a compromise candidate should a deadlock develop between Senator Taft and Governor Dewey," said that source who declined to be quoted by name.

"That could be especially true in the Pennsylvania delegation because Senator Vandenberg and Governor Duff see eye to eye on European policies."

Governor James H. Duff, who came out in favor of President Truman's European aid program, will head the big 73-member Pennsylvania delegation to the Philadelphia convention.

FLOOD CONTROL PLAN

Warren, Pa., March 29 (AP)—Creation of district flood control authorities in every major tributary watershed in the Allegheny river drainage area was proposed today by Ben Kinnear, president of the Upper Allegheny River Improvement Association. "Face-restoring, rather than face-lifting for the entire Allegheny river watershed of 11,705 square miles is needed," Kinnear said in a statement.

V-8 FOODS SOLD

Camden, N. J., March 29 (AP)—The Campbell Soup company has purchased the V-8 Food Products business of the Standard Brands, Inc. The companies said in a statement yesterday the transaction is effective April 5. It involves transfer of the trademark and manufacturing facilities used in the production of V-8 products.

GRASS IN SHADE

A heavily shaded lawn is always difficult to maintain and the density of shade will govern the quality of it. Grass below trees requires deep good soil and must be fed more often than grass that is growing in the open. In this case the grass roots and tree roots must both have enough or it will be the survival of the fittest. Cheatings fescue and birdgrass seem to grow better than others in shaded situations.

No Smoking, Please; It's Bad For Tomato

Gardeners who use tobacco in any form may find to their sorrow that certain virus diseases of tomato can be spread during handling of the plants. Highly contagious plant viruses are sometimes present in tobacco and there is danger of transmitting them if some of the virus is present on the gardener's hands when he works among his tomatoes. Tobacco users, then, would do well to wash their hands thoroughly with soap and water before setting tomato plants in the garden or before staking and pruning them.

NEW FACTS ON APPLICATION OF PLANT FOODS

How to place plant food for the best effect on the crop is a problem now being debated by scientists. For home gardeners, it is not as serious as for the commercial grower, to whom the cost of plant food represents a major expense.

But the plant's requirements are the same, in both home and market gardens; and V. A. Tiedjens, director of the Virginia Truck Experiment station, Norfolk, Va., says the best practice for all gardens may be summarized as follows:

1. On soils which are acid, testing below pH6, plant food should be concentrated in bands or pockets, not touching plant roots but within easy reach.

2. On sweet soils, testing above pH6, spade plant food thoroughly into the soil, evenly and deeply.

The reasons for this difference in practice are found in chemical reactions which take place when fertilizer salts, particularly potash, are applied to soil containing clay. These are too technical for brief explanation. Prof. Tiedjens favors a definitely sweet soil for growing vegetables, except the few which prefer acidity. The chief of these is the potato, where an acid soil discourages scab disease.

Lime Important

Discussing the effect of lime on acid soils, Prof. Tiedjens said: "There are few acid soils growing vegetables which contain sufficient calcium. Before we can expect to harvest maximum yields we must satisfy the lime requirements of the soil. This may mean one, two or even ten tons of limestone per acre. Fear of over-liming has come about from the use of hydrated lime, rather than limestone, under certain circumstances."

"Aside from its effect on the pH and calcium content of soil, does lime have favorable, or unfavorable effects?" he was asked.

"It prevents soil from baking when dry and improves aeration when wet," he said. "It makes clay soil coarser and more porous; and helps make plant food available, by preventing phosphates from tying up in the form of insoluble iron and aluminum phosphates."

Rule on Quantity

A strong recommendation for applying side-dressings and booster applications of plant food to growing crops in solution, rather than dry, was given by Prof. Tiedjens. "If dry plant food is placed deep where it will do the most good, the roots often are cut off and growth checked," he said. "If plant food is to be side dressed, it should be applied in solution form."

The quantity of plant food to be used should be determined by experience with the particular soil. The general rule for amateurs is to use four pounds of balanced plant food for each 100 square feet, or 100 feet of garden row.

Damping-Off Can Be Avoided With Care

Many chemicals for treating flower seeds before they are sown are available to control the damping-off disease of seedlings.

Gardeners can control the disease by sowing the seeds in flats containing sifted hard coal ashes or sifted sphagnum moss. Overwatering usually increases the damage by damping-off fungi, but when the materials named are used there is little danger from this source.

When the seedlings have formed their second or third pair of true leaves, they can readily be lifted from either of the ashes or moss and shifted to soil in flats or directly to a seedbed out of doors.

CUP AND SAUCER VINE UNUSUAL

The list of good annual climbing vines is not limited to the few well known and used varieties. For something a little unusual try the Cup and Saucer vine (Cobaea). It bears interesting, though not very showy, purple bell-shaped flowers, grows rapidly, often as much as fifty feet in a season and clings by means of tendrils to any rough surface as well as to trellises, arbors and tree trunks. Best results are obtained by starting the seeds indoors in March.

Companion crops in a vegetable garden are those grown simultaneously on the same ground for at least a portion of the season. Examples are radishes, lettuce, spinach or onion sets, grown between the rows of tomatoes, lima beans or corn.

Notes On Plum Spraying

Commercial plum growers should consult their County Farm Agent at once for spraying instructions. Owners of but a few trees grown for home use should write the editor for a free copy of our plum spray schedule. This recommends a simplified program of protective sprays which is designed to control the plum's most common insect enemy—the curculio, and two prevalent diseases—brown rot and leaf spot.

There are but four main applications in this home schedule of sprays for plums. The first is optional, depending whether scales or red mites are present. If needed, this first spray must be made before buds open, preferably within the next few days. Lime-sulphur is recommended to destroy the San Jose scale, but one of the commercial miscible oil sprays is necessary if Lecanium scales or European red mites infest the trees. Lime-sulphur is not effective against the Lecanium scale and will not destroy unhatched red mite eggs.

The next application is made when most of the calyx shucks have dropped. However, if curculios are numerous, this second spray should be applied as soon as the bloom petals have fallen. In either case dry wettable sulphur is advised, mixed at the rate the manufacturer advises on the package. Lead arsenate must be added at the rate of 1½ pound to 50 gallons of spray. Again it is important for growers to remember that lead arsenate should first be mixed with three times its own weight of fine hydrated lime and the mixture reduced to a thin paste with water before it is added to the spray mixture. This is advised in order to prevent foliage burning likely to result if lead arsenate is added directly to the spray solution.

This second spray is repeated three weeks after the calyx shucks drop, with the same strength materials advised.

Both the second and third applications are needed to keep leaf spot and brown rot curbed and to kill the curculio. Then one more application is advised, preferably about a month before plums are expected to ripen or, if the season is warm and damp, within 18 to 21 days of ripening time. In this last application no lead arsenate is necessary, as this final spray is directed almost solely against brown rot and at the same time against the fungus causing leaf spot. It consists of dry

BACTERIA FATAL TO JAP BEETLES

With all the alarming predictions on use of bacteriological agents in the next war, few persons realize that this principle has been successfully applied in the battle against certain insects.

A bacterial spore dust which is highly effective against Japanese beetles in lawns and other areas is available in horticultural supply stores. When the dust is applied to a grub-infested area, the bacteria soon become active. They parasitize the grubs, producing what is known as "milky disease." This kills the pests before the grubs can change into beetles. In the process, more bacteria are produced in the dead and dying grubs.

Milky disease spore dust is harmless to plants, domestic animals and humans when used according to directions. One pound is enough to treat 4,000 square feet of lawn. It takes several years for the bacterial population to increase sufficiently to reveal any striking reduction in beetle population, but once the bacteria begin to work, the effects are supposed to last indefinitely.

Gardeners who want immediate results, in addition to the long-time ones, should also treat lawn areas with a 10 per cent DDT dust at the rate of six pounds for each 1,600 square feet.

Cuts suitable for lamb stew come from neck, shank, breast or shoulder. Lima beans, cauliflower, parsnips and leeks, though not commonly used in lamb stew, add a great deal of flavor to it.

ITALIAN VOTE TO DETERMINE RED PROGRESS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

History records few, if any, political elections upon which so much has depended as hinges on the Italian national voting of April 18, for the outcome may determine the trend of the "cold war" in Europe between COMMUNISM and DEMOCRACY. This momentous electoral contest is between the powerful Communist party and the Christian Democrats headed by Premier Alcide de Gasperi, who now presides over an unstable coalition of rightists. If the Reds can elect enough members to control the Assembly they will have gained a priceless Mediterranean base from which to conduct a conquest of Western Europe and the Greek-Turkish-Dardanelles zone. If De Gasperi can secure a safe majority, Democracy's star will be in the ascendency.

Reds Threaten Force

The Italian Communists have announced that they intend to seize government by force if denied "the power the majority will give us." The significance of this alarming notice lies in these facts:

The consensus of observers is that the "popular front" of Communists and their leftist allies will get 35 to 40 per cent of the votes. This may be the largest received by any one party or bloc. Anti-Communist parties have indicated they will combine after the election to claim victory by majority and the right to form the new government. De Gasperi threw the Reds out of his government last year and has given no indication that he wants them back.

There is a most extraordinary element in this election, and one which may be the deciding factor. The way things look now it may resolve itself very largely into a battle between religion and Red atheism—a fight between the Church of Rome and a Communism which condemns belief in God as the dope of the proletariat.

Pope Opposes Reds

Pope Pius on March 16 placed his personal and official prestige behind prelates and bishops who had been telling Italian Catholics to vote for candidates friendly to the church. He did this in a Lenten address in which he said that Catholics must vote for candidates who stand "for safeguarding the rights of God and of souls, for the true good of individuals."

Then a few days ago Eugene Cardinal Tisserant came out with a sharp pre-election attack on Communists, in a message to priests

Harrisburg Girl, 3, Succumbs To Burns

Harrisburg, March 29 (AP)—Three-year-old Shirley Barbee died today in Harrisburg hospital from burns suffered in a fire which swept the family apartment last night.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Barbee, found their apartment on fire on returning from church services. A son, Melvin, escaped injury. Fire Chief Earl Swartz said the blaze of undetermined origin was confined to the Barbee apartment.

GIFTS SHOWERED ON CRIPPLED BOY

Philadelphia, March 29 (AP)—There was an Easter party yesterday in the hospital room of seven-year-old John Guille, who lost both legs under the wheels of a locomotive March 12.

His parents were there and the doctors and nurses who have helped him wage a slow but apparently winning battle for life.

The spirit of that party, however, went far beyond the walls of the hospital—out to 36 of the 48 states and even as far as Hawaii.

For surrounding Johnny's bed in St. Luke's and Children's Medical Center were gifts of almost every size and description from well-wishers who had read of his plight as they were preparing for their own Easter observance.

Beside his bed was a 30-inch model of a sailing vessel, made by inmates at the Eastern State penitentiary in Philadelphia.

On one bedside table was a television set and across the bed on another table was a radio-record player. There were more than 50 Easter baskets filled with the things an Easter basket should contain.

There were books, clothing, a new wrist watch and hundreds of cards and letters—from Honolulu, Seattle, Louisiana, Wisconsin.

and parishioners in his archdiocese in Rome's environs. The cardinal declared:

"I think that no menace as grave as atheistic Communism has ever confronted Christian civilization."

The prelate added that Catholics who favor Communism "cannot ask of priests to be admitted to holy sacraments, to have the ritual blessing of the church, to belong to Catholic action x x x and after death cannot have Christian services, nor be buried in holy ground under the sign of the cross."

Close to 100 per cent of all Italians are Catholics. Now the big question is how they will react to this edict. We shall have our answer in about three weeks.

communions on Good Friday evening and Easter Sunday morning were among the largest of the pastorate.

The baskets of flowers in front of the altar were in memory of the late Mrs. Walter Brendle and were placed there by her daughters. The flowers in the altar vases were placed there by Mrs. Earl Harner in memory of her husband. The confirmation class received their first Holy Communion at the morning service. The Rev. Kammerer received the following into membership Sunday morning: by re-instatement, Mrs. Willis Sledd, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller and Mrs. Elsie Klinedinst; by profession of faith, Elsie Florence Klinedinst; and by letter, Mrs. Floyd Wintrobe and Edward F. Fuhrman.

Following the service in the church auditorium, the Rev. Mr. Kammerer baptized Peggy Louise Myers, infant daughter of Howard O. and Louise (nee Eppelman) Myers. The parents were the sponsors.

Rotary Club To Meet
The Rev. Grantas E. Hooper, pastor of the Centenary Methodist church, used the Easter program on Sunday morning that was prepared by the World Service Agency of the Methodist church. This service at which Holy Communion was administered was largely attended. The altar was decorated with cut flowers which were donated by the members. A basket of memorial flowers was placed in the chancel in memory of Bernard Shadle, a veteran of World War II by his wife, Mrs. Rosa Shadle and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Shadle. The recently organized Sunday evening Fellowship, which is showing steady growth, was led by Miss Ruth Miller Sunday evening and the guest speaker was Albert Stock who spoke on "The Church Needs Us." Miss Jacqueline Baughman will be the leader next Sunday evening.

The weekly meeting of the Littlestown Rotary club will be held Tuesday at 6:15 p. m. in Schottie's banquet hall. The club will entertain the members of the local school patrols. # ELEPHANTS CAN'T VOTE

By Gene Gleason

Chapter 29

The second day of the "Carnival of the Animals" held every external portent of success. Clear weather, just crisp enough to be invigorating, stayed through the morning and afternoon with no threat of rain toward evening.

Newspaper reviews and word-of-mouth advertising by members of the first-night audience conveyed such contagious enthusiasm that the show seemed a certain sellout at its last performance.

Eddie Gale, within easy sight of his goal, should have felt exultant even as he worked incessantly at his office to meet the last-minute demand for tickets. By noon, he knew that the house would be sold out before the box-office opened for the evening performance. By three o'clock in the afternoon, he was drawing on every element of tact he had ever learned to parcel out the remaining tickets without offending the droves of applicants whose large-order demands had to be scaled down to a maximum of two tickets each.

Fully aware that the zoo would need public support in coming years as it did now, Eddie remained steadily at the office through the day, sending out for occasional cups of coffee, and sandwiches. It would have been easy to delegate the task of filling orders to other members of the office staff, simply selling tickets until the supply was exhausted and then turning the late-comers away with a curt "no." But Eddie, appreciating the delicacy of pleasing a public with a long memory for boxoffice rudeness, stuck to his desk, personally handling the most difficult requests.

If he could not give them tickets, he decided, he would at least treat them courteously.

In all the frenzied, final stages of the campaign, he knew that Carolyn's love mattered even more than his own success, or even that of the campaign on which they had both labored so furiously. But he had not seen her at all during last night's concert, nor since. Unaccountably, without a ghost of an explanation, she had vanished from his orbit as though he no longer merited her notice. The little demons of second-guess assailed him relentlessly: Was she interested in nothing but the campaign? Had she only tricked him into working on it to feed her own self-satisfaction?

He called her home, the zoo publicity office, Framingham's offices—all without locating her. Had she been injured, kidnapped, murdered?—his tortured imagination ran the whole scale of wild possibilities. But Carolyn's mother, whom he had talked to six or seven times, laughed off his apprehensions, telling him that she had talked with Carolyn several times during the day—and adding that Carolyn had no message for him, although her mother must have made it clear that he was frantic to hear from her.

During a lull in the late afternoon telephone traffic, Eddie found his nerves so tensed that he could not remain still. To keep himself near the phones in the event of further calls, he began thrusting his hands into the pockets of his wrinkled sports suit, emptying their contents on the desk blotter and inspecting them with a kind of purposeless reflex action. Idly he poked at a ring of keys, two unmailed letters and a bundle of lint-covered pipe-cleaners. He picked a folded slip of paper from the little mound of objects and studied it for a moment.

"Traffic summons," he realized as he unfolded it. "Returnable yesterday morning in Fox Hills village court. Forgot all about it!" He remembered that he had been stopped while speeding through the suburb a few days ago at 40 miles per hour; because Lamont T. Framingham presided over the village court, he dismissed it without a second thought and then forgot to bring it to Framingham's attention. He would not have been speeding out there if he had not hurried to distribute tickets to thirty suburban schools in time for the Carnival, he reflected.

The phone jangled beside his wrist and he quickly forgot the summons in the attempt to placate a disappointed ticket-seeker.

Arriving at the auditorium a full hour before the Carnival was scheduled to start, Eddie made a quick inspection to determine that the cast was ready to appear. He discovered that the orchestra, the trained-seal act and John Ryan's show, having overcome the inevitable hazards of a premiere performance, approached the second night with the casualness of established stage veterans.

A half hour before curtain time, the box-office treasurer met Eddie backstage with his unofficial final tabulations.

"Looks like we'll clear $42,000 for the two nights," he said pleasantly. "That makes it the best two-night run that ever played this place!"

"Great stuff," said Eddie with a forced show of enthusiasm. "You'll see that your men put the receipts in the night vault?"

"They're safe—don't worry," the treasurer assured him. "Most of it's locked up already—and we'll soon take care of the rest."

The music and the intermission acts went off more smoothly than at the end opposite the door.

On the bench, dressed in a loose-fitting black robe and his most formidable frown, sat the majestic form of Lamont T. Framingham.

Hardly daring to look around, Eddie took one sidelong glance at the small attorney's table, unoccupied except for Carolyn Martell, who sat beside it, looking steadfastly out the window.

"Carolyn!" he exclaimed. "For God's sake—what is this?"

Carolyn did not turn her head. Framingham, taking up his gavel, rapped sharply for order, leaning forward until his frown became even more lethal.

"Officers," he boomed out. "You will direct the prisoner not to speak until he is addressed by the court."

The two patrolmen wheeled toward Gale, looking as though they were preparing to hammer him into the floor.

"I call upon the prosecuting attorney to present the indictment against the prisoner," said Framingham severely.

Carolyn advanced to the bench, still without looking at Eddie, and addressed Framingham:

"If it please the court," she began, "the prisoner has maintained a public nuisance by constantly harassing the complainant. He has constantly interfered with her livelihood by insisting that she marry him. He has created public disrespect for the profession of psychoanalysis by posing as an analyst of the lower animals. He has separated the good people of Lakeport from $42,000 of their hard-earned funds, in order to maintain a luxurious pleasure resort for wild beasts. Beasts, your honor!"

Eddie began to break into a smile, but it was instantly checked by a rap of Framingham's gavel.

"One more such display of levity," Framingham warned, "and the prisoner will be cited for contempt!"

"The complainant wishes to inform the court that all the aforesaid infractions could be overlooked and forgiven, were it not for the fact."

"She paused."

"Continue, please," Framingham commanded.

"... were it not for the fact that the complainant is so much in love with the prisoner that she finds herself unable to overlook the prisoner's actions. She therefore petitions the honorable court to render summary judgment in this case, now and forever."

Framingham stroked his mane of thick brown hair, frowning and slowly placing his pince-nez glasses on the bridge of his nose. He cleared his throat with an almost ferocious rumble, and pronounced sentence:

"It is the judgment of this court that the prisoner, Edward Gale, be taken from this place by the complainant, remanded to her sole custody, and hugged by the neck until thoroughly compliant. It is further directed, in accordance with the laws of this sovereign state, that

WILL PRODUCE OIL FROM COAL

Washington, March 29 (AP)—Koppers Company, Inc., Pittsburgh, has been awarded a $4,413,250 contract to build a demonstration plant near Louisiana, Mo., to produce oil from coal, the Bureau of Mines said today.

The plant is one of three in the Bureau of Mines current program for development of synthetic liquid fuels. Construction will start within three months, and is to be completed 15 months later.

The Missouri plant will be able to produce up to 80 barrels of oil and gasoline daily, by gas synthesis. It will adjoin the bureau's 200-barrel-a-day hydrogenation demonstration plant, now under construction on the site of the town's wartime synthetic ammonia plant.

Both plants will employ coal as the raw material for liquid fuels, but will use sharply differing methods of treatment. The third plant in the fuels program already is operating at Rifle, Colo., extracting oil from shale.

The three plants will have the close cooperation of Bureau of Mines research laboratories at Bruceton, Pa., and Morgantown, W. Va. Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug said there work is designed to open the way to establishment of commercial plants, producing 10,000 barrels or more daily, by private industry.

Krug said the new plant will use buildings, roads, shops and other

NEW RAIL WAGE DEMANDS LOOM

Chicago, March 29 (AP)—New wage and working rule demands on the nation's railroad appeared in prospect today.

While three operating brotherhoods summoned representatives to a Wednesday meeting to consider the 15-cent hourly wage increase recommended by a Presidential fact-finding board, two other unions met for talks on further gains.

Meanwhile, a grievance strike of 10,000 firemen and engineers on the Pennsylvania railroad that had been scheduled for Wednesday has been postponed indefinitely.

Harry A. Porch, international vice president of the brotherhood of locomotive firemen and engineers, said the postponement was ordered by the union at the request of the national mediation board.

Ask Catholics To Write Italians

Philadelphia, March 29 (AP)—Catholics in the Philadelphia archdiocese were urged by Dennis Cardinal Dougherty yesterday to write to relatives and friends in Italy asking them to vote against the Communist party in the April 18 election.

A pastoral letter was read in churches throughout the diocese yesterday at the archbishop's direction.

Stressing the "extreme importance" of the Italian election in view of present conditions in Europe, Cardinal Dougherty said the outcome of the election could "easily be the salvation or ruin" of that country.

He added that a Communist victory "would encourage Communists everywhere."

Egyptian pharaohs of 4000 B.C. wore strings of iron beads made from meteorites to ward off evil spirits.

Between 1939 and 1947, the average weekly wage of American factory employes was doubled.

CENSUS BUREAU
PREPARING FOR
COUNT IN 1950

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, March 29 (AP)—Counting heads—the national census—starts in April, 1950. The Census Bureau is preparing now.
There's work in getting ready. Questionnaires, for instance. Machines to tabulate the answers. In 1940, with 130,000 field-workers knocking at doors, the census cost $50,000,000. There's no guess on the cost of the one in 1950.

Right now the population is about 145,000,000. In 1950 it will be about 148,000,000.
The census has to be taken every 10 years, the constitution says so. The reason?
To find out how many representatives each state should have in the House in Congress. A state's representation is based on its population.
The Census Bureau does the counting. It has 3,000 people here about 700 around the country. The director of the census is J. C. Cartwright. He was appointed by the President in 1941.
Before census-taking starts, the director picks a manager for each state, then brings all 48 to Washington. They're trained here.

Then they go home. Each state is divided into a number of census districts. There's a district supervisor for each district.
The manager calls them together and trains them. They go back to their districts and train the people hired to take the census, the door knockers.
They'll start out April 1, 1950, with questionnaires in forms about 28 inches wide, 40 inches long, and 50 lines for questions on each side.
They'll ask questions like these: age, race, sex, state where born, married or single, widowed or divorced, income, employed and if so in what kind of work, unemployed, how many years of schooling.
You won't be asked whether you can read or write. That used to be asked. The Census Bureau says it dropped that because now only about one per cent of the people can't write or read.
It will take about 30 days to finish the questioning. The bureau will need about three years to complete the analysis of all the information its field workers have gathered.

Congress Gets Figures
But it will have the figures on the population of the United States before the end of 1950. The President will give that information to the Congress which sits in 1951.
That Congress, using the population figures, will make any changes necessary in the number of representatives in the House. This will be done in time for the elections of 1952.
So if there's any change in the number of House members—there are 435 now—it won't go into effect till the new Congress sits in 1953.
The first census was taken in 1790. The population then was 3,929,214. U. S. marshals and their deputies did the door-to-door job. Their job was simple.
They just asked the name of the head of the household and the number of people living there. More things were added from time to time.
In 1810 a census was started on the number of manufacturing plants in this country, and what kind. In 1840 a census on farms started; how many farmers, number of livestock, kinds of crops, and so on.
In 1850, instead of asking just the name of the head of a household, the census-taker began getting the names of all the people in a house.
